ABOUT THE COVER

The land, on which the village of Greencastle would be settled, was part of a land grant “first owned by Samuel Smith,” who received a warrant in 1750 from the Penn proprietors. Thirteen years later, in 1763, William Allison, Sr. purchased the land from John Davidson. “No one knows when the tavern was built, but it did exist” when William purchased the land in 1763. In 1769, William “transferred 300 acres” to his son Col. John Allison, founder of Greencastle in 1782 – 240 years ago. It was here that John Allison brought his bride Elizabeth Wilkin and it is where they raised 12 children.

Many of today’s major highways are attributable to migrating buffalo and Native Americans who hunted buffalo. When the white men arrived, they used the trails for exploring, trading, and settling. Along those trails, taverns were built by very early settlers to accommodate newcomers traveling the pack trails. The taverns were a respite – a place for the travelers to eat, sleep, and board their horses before getting back on the trail.

Today, we know the intersection of the two 1700’s pack trails as Greencastle’s Center Square.

At that 1700’s intersection was a tavern on the southwest corner, which became known as Allison’s Tavern. The roads are U.S. Route 11, that runs the length of the Cumberland Valley from the Susquehanna River to the Potomac River. It was the road to Carlisle and is so named today within the borough. The east/west pack trail was known then as the Baltimore Road, now PA Route 16, and Baltimore Street within the borough.

Through the succeeding centuries, there was always a hostelry on the lot of Allison’s Tavern until 1923 when the National Hotel closed, due to the effects of Prohibition, which began in 1920. The old National Hotel building is now used for apartments and business establishments.

President's Welcome

Welcome to the 41st Triennial OLD HOME WEEK CELEBRATION

Welcome Friends and Family!

Every three years it always seems that something 'magical' happens in Greencastle-Antrim. It is something that has happened every three years for the past 120 years since 1902. It is something that is difficult to describe to people who do not live here and who have never attended or participated in any of the week-long events. I've tried to explain it to others not from this area and they just smile and nod their heads, not really understanding. I have likened it to "Brigadoon," that sleepy, little town, which comes alive every 100 years. That's not quite it either. When I read in the Echo-Pilot an account of Old Home Week 1905, it became quite clear, in one word, what Old Home Week is and what makes it so special. The author mentioned the word 'spirit.' There is an Old Home Week Spirit. It is akin to the Christmas Spirit that everyone feels at that time of the year. It is anticipation. It is anxiousness waiting for the day to come. It is being remarkably busy preparing for family and friends. Everyone has a smile on their face and is cordial. It is looking forward to seeing old friends from childhood – that time in everyone's life when the strongest friendships and bonds are made. It makes one feel good inside. The Old Home Week Spirit takes pride in Greencastle's and Antrim's history and ancestors, always remembering those who came before us. The Old Home Week Spirit honors our past. If we do not remember our past, then our today, and our future will have no meaning or purpose.

I hope 'your' visit and participation, during Old Home Week 2022, helps you make a connection with your community's past. Catch the Old Home Week Spirit and carry it forward for future generations.

It is a distinct honor to serve as President of the 41st Triennial Old Home Week celebration.

Bonnie A. Shokey

2022 Old Home Week President
